Diesel is known far and wide of being a leading pioneer in denim and casual fashion since long been. The brand's extreme experimentations have moved trends in, out and ahead in the industry. The old DNA intact, recent evolutions within the Diesel world of premium functional accessories put a new mark in an established luxury market. It is alternative luxury. Go big on looks, textures and functionality and it's an icon watch to put all others to shame.

It's called the Daddy. There's also a Little Daddy but we will keep that out this time. It combines analog chronographs and multiple-zone timekeeping with a hyper-detail digital dial. The Daddy is a great companion on travels. You don't call it a timepiece. It's a Timeframe!

Boldness, rebellion and blatancy – all three come instantly with this somewhat classic watch. Its rugged texture doesn't allow it to become a classic fully. It has a masculine appeal that doesn't follow trends; it created one instead.

With its distinctive look and a unique layout, this is one of the best examples of how Diesel drives stylistic concepts forward. This Diesel Timeframe reflects the confidence and assertive power through its large 'n loud look. Its constant disregard towards set rules of casual design gave rise to new ideas and shapes in stainless steel and gunmetal.

The sunray dial is light gunmetal while the rest is stainless steel and glass. The watch measures local and world time, functions as a Diesel Double Down Watches, has more than decent lume and covered by a durable mineral crystal. It's a wonderful quality that you can wear to any occasion that's not strictly-formal in dress code.

This is a watch that's truly a lot of watch for the money. You'll wear four watches at once - two parts analog, one part digital, and one part chronograph. Easy to read - its mega-oversize allows that. You'll not be able to take your eyes off it very soon.

Strapping on the muscular Diesel Chronograph Grey Multi Dial Ana-Digi Display DZ7247 Mens Watch you'll feel going heavy metal. Its look and design results in a watch that tells time in 4 different time zones, its hands glow in dark and an overall stainless steel construction, this one is certainly not for the timid or the meek. Geeks - maybe. Its simple, yet straight-forward inventory of accomplishments is a welcome surprise.

Do not expect a lightweight watch. The Diesel Chronograph Mens Watch is about robust, stainless steel rendering. So that - you wear this watch with pride! Cowboy or urban, bartender or just a man who's big, bold and make bad-ass choices, the Diesel Chronograph Grey Multi Dial Ana-Digi Display DZ7247 is built to suit every lifestyle and life.
